Bayard Has Accepted the State and Lamar the Interior Department.

While Manning Will Be in the Treasury, Garland Will Be Attorney-General and Vilas Postmaster-General.

Thurman and McDonald Positively Dropped From Cleveland's Slate.

ALBANY, N. Y., February 25. - Since Senator La cleared a good deal as to the Cabinet, and from an outside source. I am able to say that five appoint of Mr. Cleveland. They are

BAYARD, for SECRETARY OF STATE MANNING, for SECRETARY of the TREASURY LAMAR, for SECRETARY of the INTERIOR. VILAS, for POSTMASTER-GENERAL

There is yet some upcertainty as to the WAR AND NAVY PORTFOLIOS.

Mr. Cleveland is disposed to appoint Mr. Whitney to the Navy. There is only one reason why he is not fully resolved to do so. He does not like to ap point two members of the Cabinet from New York. It is possible, even probable, that this will be done however, for Mr. Cleveland wants a Cabinet with which he can work in hearty accord. If he were to be obliged to send in his Cabinet to-day he would probably appoint Lucius Q. C. Lamar, Unized States Senator from Missiasippi, first saw the light in Putnam County, Georgia, September 17, 1825. He graduated at Emory College in 1845, studied law two years and began the practice of his profession immediately. In 1849 he moved to Oxford, Miss. to act as asystant professor of mathematics at the State University, at the same time assisting in the editing of the Southern Review. He then went to his native State, where he practiced law for four years, and then moved back to Mississippi in 1854. He began his career as a public man by serving in the Georgia Legislature and as a member of the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses. When the State seeded Mr. Lamar resigned his seat in Congress and went into the Secssion Convention and afterwards joined the Confederate army as lieutenant-colonel of infantry and was promoted in the early part of the war to colonel. He was then sent to Russia by the Confederate Government on an important diplomatic mission. When the war ceased he became professor of political economy and social science in the Mississippi State University. He was sent to the forty-third and forty-fourth Congresses, and successed Senator Alcorn in 1877 and was re-elected in 1839 for the term ending March 3, 1889. He is noted, playsically, for his strong resemblance to Senzor John A. Logan.

the Grund Committee manifested and deciared a perfect indifference as to what sort of tocket Messrs. Pohlman and Filley might put up, but that was when the contingency of Mr. Filley being a candidate was not dreamed of. Now, however, that it is pretty definitely settled that the Pohlman element inve determined to put "the boss" at the head of the ticket, the effect has been much the same on the Grund men as a red fing produces on a buil. They are open and determined in their assertion that Mr. Filley shall not be permitted to play any such game as that on the Republican party, and there is a certainty of one of the fletreest battles in the history of local Republican organization if Mr. Filley attempts to carry out his present programme. Republican organization if Mr. Filley attempts to carry out his present programme.

"But Mr. Filley is a Republican, and you can't deprive him of the right to run for office within his own party can you?" asked a reporter of a Grund Committeeman last evening.

"Can't we' Well, just see if we can't. He has to get the delegates before he gets the nomination, doesn't he? Well just let him call his primaries, and we'll show him where the Republican voters stand. We are Republicans, and we propose to vote at those primaries. When the convention meets Mr. Filley will find that there are very few delegates shouting for Chauncey I. Filley for Mayor, and there will be only one Republican nominee for Mayor, after all. chancey I. Filley for Mayor, and there will be only one Republican bomine for Mayor, after so may be made and face the state of the first defeat, won't it?"

"If Mr. Filley fails to carry the primaries this time it will be his first defeat, won't it?"

"Yes: but the reason is plain. Before he had all the workers on his side. Now he has been so short-sighted as to quarrel with the very men who used to organize and elect his delegation for such and such a purpose, and he had no further this man and that that he wanted a delegation for such and such a purpose, and he had no further this man and that that he wanted a delegation for such and such a purpose, and he had no further to the rear he had silenated these men, and he not only has them to fight, but he has no one in most of the wards to take their places and make the fight for him."

The Pohlman men are explosive at the very suggestion that they won't be allowed to control their own privaries. They decare that, inasunuch as they have the undisputed title to the claim of legitimetry and re ularity as to the party's executive organization, it is their right to exclude from participation in the primaries any man who refuses to recognize their authority, and fit the Grund men persist in their revolt, they will not be permitted to vote at primaries called to extend the propose and the Pohlman primary and the Fohlman convention will be decidedly and the Fohlman convention will be decidedly should think. After stopping there a few minutes we whist. After stopping there a few minutes we wist.

all of which it appears that the Pohiman primary and the Pohiman convention will be decidedly lively.

THE COLORED VOTE ONCE MORE.

J. W. Wilson, the autocrat of colored journalism, called at the Post-Disparch office to-day to denounce the card which was published yesterday over the signature of A. W. Clark, C. T. Brown and Henry Brown, as an altogether wanton and unautorized assault upon Mr. Tyier, the colored candidate for City Marshal. He deciares that these men have no standing whatever with their own race, and that the rann who pretends to be secretary of the imaginative club is hardly able to write his own name, while nor one of the three can write a correct sentence. Their purpose, he says, is to make capital out of Emil Thomas or some other white candidate for Marshal. Mr. Wilson says that the colored people of St. Louis are almost absolutely unanimous in their support of Mr. Tyler as a creditable representative of their race, he having by thrift and square dealing acquired a fortune of $40,000 or $50,000. As to the charge that he is a salconkeeper, Mr. Tyler says that one of the tric who make it is a regular habitue of a bad house saloon. Mr. Wilson deuies further to say that they are wrong as to the collectorship, and that M. J. Murphy, if nominated by the Democrats, will split the colored voto wide open.

Anott approximated for the same and the part of the registration offices," said Recorder Hookitzelle to day, "and, while I have a general report that there has been a fairly active registration, id on not think the total is nearly what it should be. In some of the wards it would have been very desirable to have kept, the branch offices open several days longer to accommodate the rush, but the law prevents."

"I don't know, but I expect that that duty will devolve upon me. I have just returned from 1.6.

"And who will appoint the judges and clerks of election this time."

"I don't know, but I expect that that duty will devoive upon me. I have just returned from Jefferson City, where I went to look after that test case, and it has been set for a hearing next Friday. The case will be submitted on briefs, and I think that we can expect to have a decision from the court next week as to whether Mayor Ewing or myself has the right to designate voting places, appoint judges, and canvass returns. I have strong hopes of a favorable result."

THE CITY MARSHAL AND HIS DEPUTY.

According to report, trouble is brewing in the City Marshal's office, between Major Emile Thomas and pound-keeper Thomas Martin, both of whom are candidates for the office of Marshal at the coming election. When Major Thomas was elected to the office of Marshal be appointed from Martin Pound-keeper, and it is said that since then they have had close financial relations. The pound-keeper, though appointed by the Marshal, does not draw a deputy's saiary, but takes his fees from an appropriation made annually by the Council and regulated by ordinance. Tae keeper is given 75 cents for each dog taken up and $1.25 for cattle, with the regular poundage and advertising expenses. In this way his income is collected. A year ago an appropriation of $8.00 was er is given 75 cents for each dog taken up and $1.25 for cattle, with the regular poundage and advertising expenses. In this way his income is collected. A year ago an appropriation of $5,000 was made, of which nearly $1,100 now remains in the Treasury. In view of this fact, the order issued recently by Marshal Thomas to stop catching dogs created considerable talk. It was charged by Martin's friends that Thomas had resorted to this means of "getting even" with his debuty for aspiring to his employer's place. A surplus of one-sixth of an appropriation is something unheard of in municipal government, and this fund will be replaced April 10 by a new appropriation. To day a visit was paid to the Marshal's office, where Chief Deputy Mainer was found. "Major Ihomas is sick and confined to his residence," saud Mr. Maher, "but I can answer this for him. Major Thomas is not that kind of a man. The order to stop catching was issued but it was not for the reason assigned. There were several compaints which he wished to have investigated. One man on Second street brought witnesses to testify that his dog had been taken up and yet he could not find it at the pound. Another man whose dog had three licenses was caught and injured in the catching. It was to investigate these that the order to stop was made. They begin catching again to-day or to-morrow.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I think James M. Sulivan shows an immense amount of cheek in seeking the Democratic nomination for the House of Delegates in the Tweifth Ward. After being elected to the position two years ago, the very first act of his political career was to betray the Democratic of his ward by voting for the Republican nominee for Speaker of the House. I think a man of his unlimited "gall" should be sat upon very hard. The passenger train leaving at about 8 p. m. was being closely by the New Orleans the train consisting of baggage, express, the train consisting of baggage, smoker, two coaches and four sleepers. The lead ing passenger train stopped on account of a broken truck. The New Orleans express stopped back of it half a mile and seat out signals back to notify the approaching train and then started up and almost reached the forward passenger train, still at a dead stop, when the freight came at full speed, breaking into the rear of the sleeper, the engine reaching the middle of the rear sleeper, telescoping several cars, then crashing into the rear of the forward passenger. The wildest confusion at once ensued. The cries of imprisoned victims rent the air. Ready hands chopped into the mass of debris, extricating the injured and caring for them as well as possible. XLVIIITH CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 25.—Senator Sherman, from the Congressional Committee of Arrangements on the Washington monument dedication, submitted a report and a concurrent resolution expressing the thanks of Congress to Col Thomas Lincoln Casey of the Engineers Corps and his assistants and the workmen under his and their direction for the admirable manner in which he and they have performed their respective duties in the completion of the monument to the name and fame of George Washington.

Senator Alison submitted a conference report on the army appropriation bill and said that the conference had agreed to all the differences except that relating to court-martial in time of peace. The House provision he said so amended the Ninety-fourth article of war, as to enable courts martial to control the hours of their own session, instead of being required, as now, to sit from 8 a.m., to be more than the said of the control the hours of their own session, instead of being required, as now, to sit from 8 a.m., to Senator Ingalis believed the court-martial had tried to do justice. He had no reflection to make on the trial. Or course President Arbur had no personal connection with the transaction. He was merely the executive officer through whom the finding was promulgated. Senator Ingalis exonerated the President from all personal connection with the transaction criticised.

passage of a bill he had been urging before Congress for eight years. He came here in '77 to urge the passage of a bill to establish title to lands occupied by settlers on the Des Moines River. The lands had been granted to a company for the Improvement of the Des Moines River, but the company failing to perform the work, the lands were supposed to have reverted to the Government. It never took possession of them, however, and settlers have never been able to get their titles. The bill to establish titles has bend pending for years and Darley has been here pushing it. The other day it passed the Senate, and yesterday it was favorably reported to the House. This was too near to the culmination of his years of work, and induced such excitement as to produce a case of heart disease, and he fell dead.

"It was false from beginning to end," said Pfeninger.

"Show me something false about it?" Pfeninger.

"Well, you come down to my 'actory and I'll show you how my girls talk. They won't say those things there."

"I suppose you have discharged all the girls that would be apt to complain of their treatment. I can only find one statement about y u here, and that is that you employ seventy-five girls.

"I employ more. But the article is false. You don't seem to know that those girls are all llarsevery one of them. You listen to them and they'll tell vou anything.

"I'd believe them a good deal quicker than a fact that the girls have been telling the truth. It is a fact that the girls have been telling the truth. It is a fact that you pay starvation wages, isn't it?"

"No."

"You pay an average of less than $3 a week."

The discussion with Pfeninger was entirely a fruitless one, and it became necessary to request that individual to leave the office. From his own statement he has discharged ten girls from his employ because other girls, not in his employ, have got up a schedule of prices, at which it would be possible for them to average between four and fire dollars a week, by ten hours hard work a day. He seemed, somehow, to take especial exception to the statement that some of the girls at yesterday's meeting were neatly dressed. His language concerning the girls, as a whole, was brutal and unmanly. And while he is master of his som factory, and has the right to discharge and be smirch all his hinte slaves on any pretext that seems fittle more cautious in the future in discussing his rights of starvation and slander over the buman chattels which an inscrutable Providence has given into his hands.

and importance. But only four years ago the Buffalo Democrats, in nominating a candidate for Mayor, gave the Empire State a Governor and the Union its next President. The reforms sought and the interests at stak in that Buffalo election were not worthier of public attention than those involved in the ending municipal campaign of St. Louis. But his system. though Buffalo was not writhing in the fangs of a gas monopoly, nor were her taxes so heavy our her streets in such a wretched condition as ours, yet somehow her people were aroused. There, as here, the men who wanted something for themselves, but had nothing to offer for the welfare of the city, went about holding dark lantern conferences, making trades, forming combinations and fixing delegations to conname CLEVELAND for the Presidency. It is trol nominations. But all their plans were terest and a popular instinct which out of its hiding-place and assert itself. found the requisite qualities for the occasion in the strong character and well equipped mind of ex-Sheriff CLEVELAND. A Democratic nomines, he was elected in a Republican city. Before his term ended, this man, previously unknown outside of his own city, had to resign the office to take that of Governor of New York, to which the people of the State had elected him by an unprecedented majority. And now, before the end of his term as Governor, he is declared President-elect of the United States, the first Democratic nominee so honored in the last

> All this shows how a plain, clear-headed earnest man, with nothing brilliant or showy about him, may, even in such municipal positions as Alderman, Sheriff and Mayor of a third or fourth class city, render services and identify himself with ideas for which the people will call him not only to the highest office in his State, but to the Chief Magistracy of the United States. Candidates and voters should all bear this in mind at every stage of the process of filling our municipal offices for the next four years. With respect to salary, responsibility and opportunities for distinguished public service, the office of Mayor of St. Louis out ranks the Governorship of most of the States. But Mr. CLEVELAND bas shown us that honor and preferment depend less on the rank and dignity of the office than on the manner in which the incumbent acts his part therein. With the Buffalo lesson before them, the vot ers of St. Louis seem to be leaving the choice of their municipal government for the next four years to the combinations which contractors ward bosses and corporations or other specia

There cannot be any question that a typhoid epidemic afflicts Kansas City, nor can there be any question as to the causes. So long as 100,000 people crowded together are compelled to breathe, drink and eat poson and subsist on poison, nothing else than new made graves in green graveyards is to be expected. We have the typhoid fever. It is ours, and we will have to wear it out, with the sacrifice of a few more citizens and with the pageantry of a few more funerals.

The Swindling Scheme of a Young Married Man to Raise Money.

Bosron, February 25 .- Judson Ditson from "the West," aged 22, was arrested here on a charge of swindling. His plan was to run into the countingroom of some large concern, late in the afternoon, and inquire in a brisk, business-like way, if Mr. So-and-so's check would be good for $100. The cashier would reply in the affirmative. Ditson, expressing thanks for the information, would disapear, and soon after return and ask as an addition pear, and soon after return and ask as an additional favor that the check might be cashed, as it was after bank hours. The money, of course, was forthcoming. The checks were forged. Ditson was arrested yesterday. A few weeks ago he married a young lady of high social connection. He is himself of high social standing. His father is a Government official of some prominence in the West. Ditson had a falling out with his father not long ago, and, being out of employment, adopted the above method of raising money. He came on a tour to Boston with his wife. She was heart-broken at the exposure.

It was stated by members of the committee-that some liberal-spirited citizens were inquiring why the Sanitary Aid Association was not already at the work of regeneration. It was stated, however, that two unavoidable causes exist: First, that the frozen condition of things haa thus far made it impossively expected that the ificalth Department will inaugurate the work as made through the solicitation and earnest efforts of the Sanitary Aid Committee. The entire fund to be expended for sanitary purposes is estimated at about $30,000.

In the event that the city authorities do not inaugurate the work within ten days the committee will take it in haud without further delay.

ing facts concerning the application lutitation, death of, and refusal on the part of the Royal Clan to pay death benefits to the widow of Abraham Bodys, a member of Clan McDonald, No. 6.

Abraham Bodys was initiated in Clan McDonald, No. 6, on May 21, 1834. He pwid the initiation fee, 34, and assessment No. 15, 51 05, in advance. He died in good standing with the clan on September 15, 1834.

With his well-known fraternal feeling, John W. Mitchell, grand chieftain of Missouri, knowing Bodys' family to be in distress, attended to the funeral of the deceased brother, incurring about $74 expenses in carrying out the arrangements, which sum he became personally responsible for. The medical brother of Clan McDonald, Dr. Ehrman, also attended Mr. Bodys in his last illness without recompense. The bills for funeral expenses were duly presented to Clan McDonald, No. 6, and passed for payment. On tendering to the Royal Treasurer the amount collected for assessment No. 15 by Clan McDonald, No. 6, the financial secretary was informed that the assessment paid by Mr. Bodys would be refused because it had been discovered that he was not registered as a member on the books of the Royal Clan. On investigation it was found that this statement was correct, and that this arose solely from the fact that Clan McDonald, No. 6, had omitted to forward to the Royal Secretary the $1.00 paid by the deceased when he tendered his application to the clan. Of the fact that that it was paid The special collectors are doing effective service. The citizens are responding liberally, but it will require about two weeks more to complete the canvas. As it daily becomes more evident that the cholera will visit this country early in the spring, the urgency of the situation is more apparent. It is fully believed by those who are closely studying the indications that people who are able and yet have not contributed liberally will have to do so or pack up their baggage for a trip beyond the timber line.

verbial) will see them paid when the time comes for payment.

The issuing of the circular is but an attempt to coerce the order into payment of a bogus claim, and ought in itself arouse suspicion of a case that could not calmly await the action of the Royal Clan, but desired to create false sympathy before it was called for jurisdiction.

The case is as follows:

At the time of Bodys' death, Clan McDonald was ten months in arrears with their initiation tax, and three months in arrears with their initiation tax, and three to suspension, and No. 15 was not paid until three weeks after Bodys' death, and doubtess would three months in arrears with Assessment No. 15. The clan only paid Assessment No. 15 and 14 on threat of suspension, and No. 15 was not paid until three weeks after Bodys' death, and douotess would not have been paid then unless the attempt was to be made to collect for Bodys.

According to circular of Clan McDonald, he was intitated May 21, died September 15. He was buried prior to that date, yet his name never had been sent for enrollment; it was only after his death they desired it recorded.

On the claim being made for assessment, the Royal Chaim has defined they decided there were no grounds for the same if the widow is to suffer by the decision, she has the sympathy of the executive committee, but that furnishes no ground for setting at defiance our laws. The Royal Clan has adopted a system of business for the management of the bequeatament fund, which it cannot afford to allow Clan McDonald is superior to the Royal Clan, abolish your executive committee, who give their time and service in the interest of the order. If Clan McDonald is superior to the Royal Clan, abolish your executive committee, who give their time and service in the interest of the order without pay, who had no object in rejecting this claim but that of protecting the membership and maintaining the order.

The sympathetic question is asked: "Is it fraternal or fair to imitate the well-known tacties of many insurance companies, to defeat payment of claims, morally just, on bare technicalities?" Allow me to say, for the executive committee, the claim was not rejected in any such spirit. The question is simply this and nothing more: Clan McDonald asked the executive committee to insure the life of Abraham Bodys after he was dead two weeks. Your executive committee to insure the life of Abraham Bodys after he was dead two weeks. Your executive committee to insure the life of Abraham Bodys after he was dead two weeks. Your executive committee to had been desired to avail themselves of technicalities, the fact that Bodys, prior to his initiat payment the funeral account. These sacred offices the committee should not have spoken of. Scripture says: "Let not the left hand know what the right hand doeth." But now for the facts: "At Bodys' death his faiply were in Scotland, where they now are, and at the time of his funeral knew nothing of his death, so could not be distressed on that account. Mitchell's fraternal feeling allowed him to create a debt which he has never hur either his feelings or pocket by paying one cent of, although repeatedly asked to do so. Clan McDonald passed the claim, and to this day they keep passing at at a very long distance, as they have not liquidated the same.

Capt. R. R. Scott looked the very embodiment of firmness—yea, even stubbornness, as he contributed this emphatic declaration to the history of a controversy which threatens to disrupt the admirable order known to St. Louis people as the Scottish Clans.

The trouble which is involving the whole order originated in the death of a Scotchman named Abraham Bodys, on the 18th of last September. He was a member of McDonald Clan, in good standing, but when the Royal Clan, which handles the dead benefit fund, was asked to call in an assessment and pay it over to the family of the deceased, it refused to do so by a unanimous vote. This the McDonald Clan regarded as a very serious injustice to the clan itself, and the feeling of indignat on has been steadily growing. Your executive committee could not do anything so absurd.

If the committee had desired to avail themselves of technicalities, the fact that Bodys, prior to his initiation, doubted his physical fitness for membership, on account of henorrhage of the lungs, could easily have been availed of. The committee, when the claim was rejected, stated that if any scheme was originated to raise funds for Mrs. Bodys by Clan McDonaid, all would cheerfully co-operate. Up to this date the sympathy of Clan McDonaid for Mrs. Bodys distress has only extended as far as sending out their circular.

Many of the best members in St. Louis threaten to leave the order if such a manner of coing business is allowed.

STEP BY STEP. An Aged New York Murderer

Tracked to Canada,

Beckwith's Murder of His Partner, Simon Vandercook-The Corpse Butchered and yesterday's Post-Disparcii, proceedings were com-menced here for the extradition of Oscar F. Beck-sith, alias Charles White, for the murder of Simon ired alone in a small shanty, about a mile from the jown of Austerlitz, and twent-yfive miles south of Albany. This shanty was situated upon a piece of mining ground owned by him and the murdered man, Vandercook, who ran it in partnership. It was Beckwitch's unchangeable opinion that there was gold in it, and so strongly was he impressed with the idea that at one time he issued a number of $100 shares in the "austerlitz Mining Company," which were never worth a cent. Vandercook boarded about a mile from the shanty with a man named Harrison Calkins, a farmer, and used to walk back and forwards to the place every day. On January 10, 1882, he went to work as usual, but he did not return to Calkins' house.

shanty. There he noticed a sickening smell of what he thought was burning flesh. Beckwith said he had been burning shoa leather, which caused the stench, and that he had not seen Vandercook since the previous night. A search party was organized, and upon their arrival at the shanty, Beckwith was nowhere to be found. On entering the shanty, the members of the party were almost overcome with the smell proceeding from a small box stove.

The stove was opened and was found to be filled with burning flesh, which, on being taken out, proved to be the legs, arms and head of a full grown man. Shreds of clothing were identified by Calkins, and proved beyond a doubt that Vandercook had been most foully murdered.
But that was not all. In a barrel was found the remainder of Vandercook's body, cut up neatly into silices and salted down. Men were sent out in all directions, and the woods for miles around were scoured, but with no success. No traces of Beckwith could be found, and it was generally supposed

"That's not true. I never told him that I was burning old leather. You be very careful what you say." When County Attorney Feuton was addressing Judge Boyd about the papers that are wanted, Beckwith said: "I have doubts if the papers ever will come. The lawyers know all about this affair." He refused to answer any questions put by your correspondent, but when the latter read to him a paragraph in a Toronto paper, asserting that he murdered Vandercook, he rose, and walking over to the newsman, said very solemnly. "They must prove that assertion, there is a great difference between murdering a man and killing it self defense." He has a son and daughter grown up, but his wife is long since dead. The prisoner refused to return voluntarily and was remanded for extradition until Monday. He is over 70 years of age, was dressed in a rough suit of tweed, and his shoulders were wrapped in a dark-colored blanket. His face is quite ruddy and wrinkied. His nair, is iron gray, but his whiskers, which grow from beneath his chin and jaw, are quite white.

New York, February 25.—That the bride in the New York Dime Museum yesterday was fair some of the too critical congregation denied, but that she was fat and forty went without saying. In early life she adopted the business of fat woman as a profession, and by assiduous devotion to corned beef and beer soon reached the top of the ladder in her line—a line, by the way, nearly as broad as it is long. For forty years the great wealth of her affections was wrapped up in her ample bosom. Swain after swain gazed and longed to call her—all her—his own—every bit of lear—but until yeareday she was deaf to all enfrances to c..auge her name from plain Anna Pettii.

The Mystery Surrounding the Identity of a

NEW York, February 25.—Among the passengers on an ocean steamer that arrived here from Europe on February 12 was a fashionably dressed lady whose manner indicated that she was one accustomed to a life of luxury. Little was seen of customed to a life of luxury. Little was seen of her by the other cabin passengers during the voyage. She was not accompanied, and was very retiring, and even appeared to shun her fellow voyagers. There were traces of former beauty, of a very high type, about her. Although quite young, being not more than 27 or 30 years of are, she appeared to have been worn out by a gay life, or overcome by some great sorrow. On her arrival in this city she went direct to a boarding house in C.inton Place, taking with her only a small portion of her baggage. The remainder is still in the Custom 19 to 19 being not more than 27 or 38 years of a.e., she appeared to have been worn out by a gay life, or overcome by some great sorrow. On her arrival in this city she went direct to a boarding house in Cinton Place, taking with her only a small portion of her baggage. The remainder is still in the Custom House. Through an advertisement she secured quarters under the name of Mrs. Gertrude Stevens, at No. 120 East Twenty-third street, and explained that she did not like the house in Clinton place. After paying a week's board at the former place, little was seen of her. She remained in her room nearly all the time, and not only sought retirement, but even repulsed all overtures from those who would have made her acquaintance. Two letters were dispatched by her on Friday or Saturday, one to Frederick Shehourne of No. 37 Wail street, and another to Dr. H. Marion Sims of No. 257 Madison avenue. All that was known of her history was what she herself told, in a casual way, to the lady of the house.

SHE WAS AN AMERICAN, and no could spend weever them in Europe, and had resided for a long time in Europe, and had

WILLARD'S WOE.

New Orleans Restaurant Check. Harvey Willard of the Southern got back from New Orleans this morning. He says the show is a big thing, and that some of the charges made for gumbo soup, a section of red snapper, porter house steak with mushrooms, some stewed kidneys, and liver and bacon, winding up with cabinet pudding and two orders of batter cakes, which are a speciality with the establishment's Creole cook. This light repast was washed down with a small bottle, and the charge was—"well," Mr. Willard said, alloding to the matter, "I won't say what they charged me, but I didn't go round again to that restaurant." Mr. Willard declined, from a patriotic motive, to speak of the Missouri exhibit, but said that the display made by the city of St. Louis was magnificent. On the whole, the Exposition was a great success and not very far short of the Centennial one.

WASHINGTON, February 25.—Society's observance of Lent seems to have been of a spasmodic and very brief nature. The doors that a week ago were very brief nature. The doors that a week ago were shut tightly are again open. Perhaps it would be better to say that they are ajar, for most people who are receiving and giving dinners and indulging in parties are doing so "informally." It is a good deal like the saloon which closes its front door on Sunday, but tells all its patrons before hand where the back door is, and that it will always be on the latch. There is not a day of this, the second week n Lent, that has not its social events of some sort. On Monday evening there was a grand reception at Mrs. Norman Lieber held a reception, "informal," of course. Tuesday was still more a busy day. There was, in the afternoon, a concert at Williard's Hall by the Boston Ideals, under the patronage of Mesdames Field, McCuloch, Hatton, Teller, Carlisle, Bayard, De Struve, McArthur, Edmunds, Leiter, Hayes, Pope, and Nordhoff. A London Journal's Remark Concerning the Coming Royal Marriage.

Every loyal subject must have been glad to hear that the Princess Beatrice is at last to enter into the married state. She is rising 23 and if report speaks truly, might have been wed any time these ten years but for the objection possessed by the head of the house to being left entirely without a member of her own family as companion. This was very hard on the young Princess, who somehow or other does not seem very much better off now that the edict is withdrawn. Possibly it is not altogether withdrawn. There are very few men on Change who do not know Messrs. John Prichett and R. F. Mortoe, and who do not like both of those doughty champions. This morning there was a discussion between the two, as to whether a certain five cars of corn should go under one bill of lading, or several, and the argument became so hot that Mr. Pritchett told Morton that he was mistaken—willfully mistaken, that is, and of purpose and aforethought. Mr. Morton that he would not repeat that language outside. Mr. Pritchett told Mr. Morton that he would repeat that language outside, and outside both went. Then they took collar-and-elbow holds, and waltzed about for a moment, and Mr. James P. Newell and Mr. Smythe separated the two. There was more bad language and one blow, which, being countered hy Mr. Newell, was ineffective. Later a reporter met Mr. Morton, who said he was then on his way to apologize to Mr. Pritchett for getting mad; that the whole affair was most foolish, and that nothing whatever ought to be said about it. and a politician of the Sixth Ward, had Mrs. Kate Allen arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Was-Allen arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Wassenburger of Capt. McDonaid's staff. Cohen charged Mrs. Allen with disturbing the peace, claiming that she has been for some time troubling him for $5. The amount, the lady says, is due her husband for political services in distributing tickeds at the election in 1881 for the Democratic city ticket. Cohen's excuse, it is said, for not meeting the obligation is that after he employed Mr. Allen that he found him working for some Republican candidates. Mrs. Allen would not accept the the excuse, and says she is determined to have the money which is justly due her husband. The case was called up in the Second District Police Court this morning for a hearing, and the lady was discharged on Mr. Cohen's evidence.

"There are some things that leave indelible marks on a man's memory. Nothing which happens afterwards can efface them. And when memory is perpetually assisted by some bodily pain or trouble, it becomes all the more vivid."

The speaker was Mr. Jonathan Sullivan, the popular druggist of Boston. No man in the trade is better known there, or possesses a greater host of friends. His place of business, at the corner of Beacon and Tremont streets, is a familiar landmark on those crowded thoroughfares.

Continuing, Mr. Sullivan said: "I was in the service of the Government during the war—those terrible years from 1861 to 1865. I remember particularily one winter. A severe sonowstorm was raging, and the boys keenly massel Laissing and the boys keenly massel Laissing and the boys keenly massel Laissing and the sexposure gave me my first taste of rheumatism—something much worse and more difficult to cure than any ordinary wound. and, after she had gone out, to tell the reporters, in effect, that he believed she was unchaste. Mr. Ern did not go further than to call a girl a liar and to warn the whole party, which was behaving itself in a most exemplary manner, that, by blowing his police whistle, he could have them all taken off in the boodhur warm.

NO MEETING THIS MORNING.

The committee of the striking knitters was to have met at 9 o'clock at Thie's Hall, but most of the gurls failed to materialize. The two seen by a Post-Disparce reporter this morning were exceedingly discouraged by the result of yesterday's visits to the factories, and announce their belief that the best thing the girls could do would be to return to their work until the manufacture of woolen stockings began in April, at which time it is highly probable the wages will be advanced. It was agreed that the committee should report at the general meeting at Thiet's Hall, at Fourth and Flum, this afternoon.

Hon. John J. O'Neill has had several talks and consultations with President N. E. Young of the consultations with President N. E. Young of the League at Washington, and writes to a friend here that under no circumstances will the League permit Sunday games. This settles the matter so far as the series between the American and League clubs in this city is concerned, and they will have to confine their contests to week days; this, of course, will cause some disappointment, but the public is fortunate to have any meeting at all between the clubs, and every one interested in this exciting series can squeeze out an afternoon or two to decide as to the merits of the teams.

This decision makes it compulsory to adopt the daics as agreed upon in case of that event, viz., the Tuesdays. Thursdays and Saturdays in the Interim between April 3 and 18. The St. Louis Browns will play some practice games with local picked nines and meet the Detroits April 1, 2 and 8, before entering upon their series with the Lucas team.

HAND-BALL AT THE GYMASHUM.

A match game was made up a day or two ago at the gymnasium between players of the best ability, and a larre crowd assembled to witness it. Messrs. Duan and Hackenjos (the professor) played against Messrs. Dolan and Slevin, winning three straight games. The losing side played well and made scores of 18, 17 and 19. The fine playing of the professor together with the excellent support of Mr. Duan made them the victors. Washington's birth-day was celebrated by many of the members in playing hand-ball, especially the bank clerka. The court was occupied the waole day

A barn and stable belonging to Harry Oelrichs of Cheyenne. Wyom., was burned February 18. An imported stallion, Brudant, costing $15,000, and also a Cleveland bay, valued at $5,000. were burned. Three other harses and a number of carriages were burned. The loss will reach $25,000.

J. A. St. John of St. Louis, Mo., informs us that the civil engineer who surveyed the three-mile course on Creve Cogur recently was George Bruyn, and that the survey established the fact that Teemer and Gaudaur rowed flue feet over that distance in their race last October. Mr. St. John says the course was originally chained off on the ice by members of the Modoc Rowing Club, and afterwards surveyed by gentlemen from the Washington University, St. Louis.—[Sporting Life.
